CARBON HIGH SCHOOL AGRICULTURAL WORK

NEEDS AND DEMANDS OF COMMUNITY MET.

Experiments Being Made as to Dry Farming Conditions—Thousands of Hotbeds Demonstrate Varieties of Products Successful Here.

By M. O. Maughan.

Agricultural studies should meet the needs and demands of the community. Questions of practical importance should be studied and solved—those questions that are of value and help in improving the conditions of the community as a whole—and which when solved will aid the individual in being able to succeed in his work and render to the community more and better service. Service is that for which we should train the student of agriculture as well as those who pursue other studies.

Agricultural work should be co-operative in its nature, by which the student comes very largely in personal contact with the farmers themselves in every day work. The students should go direct to the fields and study the soil, the preparation of the seed beds, the time for planting, the proper culture, the proper harvesting and marketing of crops, etc. They should go right into the dairy herd and with the assistance of a pair of scales and a Babcock tester find exactly what every cow is doing—whether she makes profits for the owner or consumes the profits made by the other cows. This the Carbon County High school is trying to accomplish. Several experiments are now under way and many more are planned and some have already matured.

Under the climatic conditions which prevail here, it is a question whether dry farming can be practiced or not. The one factor is precipitation. No experiments have yet been obtained by anyone in this county that give any definite information on this question.

The agricultural department has seen the need of knowing the annual precipitation, not for agricultural purposes alone, but from the standpoint of homesteaders and settlers, who want to know the condition of this region before coming here to make their homes. They must know something of the climate, and precipitation is a very important factor. So the department purchased two rain gauges and is now at work obtaining records which are in duplicate, hence avoiding errors as much as possible.

Along with records of rainfall, we find no records of temperature—minimum and maximum—and no records of clear and cloudy days, direction of the winds, etc. Experiments along these lines are now being conducted by the department, and it is working in connection with the United States weather bureau of Salt Lake City. These results when completed will be of wonderful value to the people.

The department sets up a hotbed each spring and demonstrates to the community at large the value of the same. Several thousands of plants are started in these hotbeds which are later distributed to the people of the community who have garden spots. Different varieties are handled with the purpose in view of deciding upon the best variety for this section of the country.

There are several orchards in and around Price city. Several of these are pruned each year by boys of the department, thus making their work practical as well as benefiting the owners.

The Carbon County High school is new and the surrounding grounds were completely barren until last year when the boys of the agricultural department planted a lawn which now covers part of the grounds nearest the building. The plot is in good condition at the present time.

Considerable work has been done along the lines of testing the soil by means of test tubes to determine its nature and borings to determine its depth at different places.

The department further co-operates with the community in holding farmers' meetings at the high school, where live discussions are carried on pertaining to needs and conditions of this community. Other work of a practical nature is being carried on and many experiments of different kinds are being planned for the future.

IDAHO LEGISLATURE REPUBLICAN

Both Houses Will Be Under Control of G. O. P. Members.

BOISE, Ida., Nov. 1.—Republicans will control the next legislature of this state, having, according to returns complete from the thirty-three counties, elected nineteen senators and thirty-three representatives. The republicans have both. There is a total of thirty-three senators making up the upper house and sixty representatives making up the lower. The democrats elected eleven senators and twenty-six representatives, the progressives two senators and one representative, and the socialists one senator. On strictly party issues the republicans will have no trouble in the legislature. Their main worry will be with the new governor, who is a democrat. Likewise the governor will be handicapped in putting his policies through with a republican legislature.

TWO KILLED IN A WRECK NEAR THOMPSONS SPRINGS

Richard Killian and Ivan Benson, two young workmen who were heading their way toward a sheep train that left Green River Monday evening of last week, were horribly mangled and instantly killed near Thompsons at 7:20. A drawhead broke and dropped down, causing the derailment of a string of empty stock cars, five of which were burned. The sheep were not hurt.

The mutilated body of Killian was brought to Green River and interred in the cemetery. Benson was buried at Thompsons. Killian was an Odd-fellow holding membership in the Bingham Canyon lodge. He had $10 in his pockets, together with lodge receipts. A bank passbook showed that he had drawn $50, but part of this was probably burned. Killian was about 30 years of age.

Killian was torn all to pieces, his right leg being gone entirely and not being found. Highland Lodge No. 21, I. O. O. F. at Bingham was telegraphed and they authorized the Green River lodge to expend $75 in burying the man.

Ivan Benson, the other unfortunate man, was probably 35 years of age, being of Swedish descent and a member of some organizations in Sweden. He was a big, strong man. He had addresses of several people in Minnesota on his person.
